

Title: Folktales from Northern Samar

Author/Creator: Lydia P. Escobar-de la Rosa

Place of Publication / Production: University of Eastern Philippines at the University Town, Northern Samar

Date of Publication: 2006

Number of Pages: 148 pages

Keywords: folktales, psyche, folklore, and cultural-based curricular resource

Mode of acquisition: Donation

Current State or Condition: Excellent condition with readable texts

Annotated Bibliography

De la Rosa, L. (2006). Folktales from Northern Samar. University of Eastern Philippines. The book is a collection of folk stories from some thirty years of hibernation. The varied tales gathered were from chosen informants based on their age, level of education, and place of residence. Furthermore, the collection is suitable for use in the Filipino Literatures course. It compliments readings from indigenous literature, which is essential as it is arduous to find oral literature from this region of the country. The cultural traits that set them apart from the rest of the world's peoples run via these fictional products. The author portrayed faithfully in English the stories she originally wrote in Samarnon, keeping the attraction and flavor intact as opposed to what typically occurs when translations are made.